

BESPOKE SPACES, ECLECTIC FLAIR

TC Interiors combines international perspective with transitional and contemporary styles

"My father always encouraged travel," says Julia Oddo, founder and lead designer of TC Interiors. "At a young age, I was exposed to the world of art, architecture, and design."

After graduating from university in her native Russia, Julia traveled abroad to New York City to study at the acclaimed Fashion Institute of Technology (FIT). After graduating FIT, Julia spent a short time in retail before realizing she had a bigger dream in architectural and interior design. She cofounded a design firm that grew rapidly and led to a collaboration with HGTV's Property Brothers.

Julia founded her own design firm in 2016 and named it after her daughters' initials. TC Interiors' strength lies in Julia's vast, eclectic design knowledge and flexibility when it comes to her clients. "Whether the client's style is traditional, midcentury, shabby chic, or contemporary, I like to bring a twist," she says. "I'm very attuned to clients' individual aesthetics. I like to give them creative design and inspirational ideas so their space is timeless and evolves with their lifestyle."

For Julia, the client always comes first. "I am not strict about my vision," she says. "I show clients what I think a space needs, but I want them to bring their own personality as well. You can't tell a client who favors a traditional style, 'This contemporary look would be perfect.' You must be attuned to their needs, and I love a good collaboration with my clients!"

201-478-0637
tcinteriordesign.net

1. Interior designer Julia Oddo. 2. Muted blue tones enhance architectural details in this home office. 3. Balancing whites and grays, this primary bathroom evokes a spa-like feel. 4. Thoughtfully selected finishes create a contemporary, timeless dining room. 5. In this kitchen, soft tones allow details to shine, including the brass finishes, herringbone tile backsplash, and waterfall countertop.